BRIEFLY DESCRIBE YOUR ORGANIZATION OR AGENCY:

BRIEFLY EXPLAIN HOW YOUR ORGANIZATION WORKS FOR ECONOMIC JUSTICE AND MEETS THE MEMBERSHIP CRITERIA LISTED BELOW

CHICAGO FAIR TRADE ENCOURAGES ITS MEMBERS TO:

Work to build a "fair market" economy (rather than 'free market' economy) to ensure that all have what they need for a dignified life by:

- Paying a living wage to employees locally.
- Paying a living wage to low-income artisans and farmers throughout the world.
- Working for policy changes at the local and national level that provide for a living wage.
- Educating others about the importance of a fair-trade economy.
- Carrying and/or marketing fairly-traded products.

Respect and nurture the cultural identity of farmers, artisans, and other producers who trade with North American partners.

Value and empower artisans, farmers and other producers (particularly women) for their contributions to production and trade.

Promote and participate in environmentally-sustainable practices at home, in faith communities and schools, and in the business community.

Be open to public scrutiny and accountability with respect to individual, organizational and business practices.

Build long-term trade relationships with trade partners, providing support for local economies in addition to partnerships between North America consumers and producers in Asia, Africa, Latin America and other parts of the world.

Provide healthy and safe working conditions, locally, and working to ensure healthy and safe working conditions in the United States and elsewhere.
